

These are changing and uncertain times for our nation, Purdue Northwest international students and international faculty. As we all too well know, uncertainty is very uncomfortable and creates significant anxiety.

As a university that embraces a strategic goal of inclusivity, PNW is committed to providing an environment in which all individuals should comfortably feel they are part of the community.

I agree with the concerns that the President raised in his Purdue Today message. Daniels issues statement on executive order on immigration-- However, I would also ask all of you to be particularly mindful of those around us who are concerned about friends, relatives, colleagues, and themselves.

We hope that our goal of inclusiveness is applicable at all times, and will continue to be our moniker as the university grows stronger working in harmony.

May we always be respectful of others,

Tom